“At Blind Ambition we’re excited to work with organisations who recognise the need to improve the lives of disabled people. We help them realise the value disabled people can contribute. We’ve worked with organisations of all shapes and sizes from smaller businesses and charities, to national governments, and multinational software or social media companies. We’re inspired to see organisations stepping forward to become more inclusive. The changes can often be small. For example one client, a major record label, took the simple step of making a reasonable adjustment by offering to interview disabled candidates in an accessible and comfortable environment of their preference. We’ll help you create diverse and inclusive cultural change. Use the QR code below or call us to start the conversation.”

"Blind Ambition is all about empowering V.I. people to reach their full potential and live their best lives. Employment can be a large part of that journey for many. We help by delivering employment webinars, workshops and one-to-one coaching aimed at making people job ready. It's so exciting to share the successes of our users who have taken the next step on their journey and seeing the positive difference it makes."
